Introduction

That's right... If you love music, why not get paid to do it...

Why would any-one "pay me" to listen to music?

Every-time music is played it helps sell more in this modern age of the internet.. So it makes sense to pay a small fee, if that helps generate a larger one.

Look at it like this. If you approached a radio station and paid them to play your song, say £20. They play it and a 1000 people buy your record and you make £1,000, it was £20 well spent.

Another reason is advertising of course! When you are listening to your music, adverts will be playing between songs, so if you are set up with the system, you get paid part of that revenue...
