Earnings...

The earning potential is unlimited

How well your gaming app is played will determine how much money you will make, but the good thing is, they're FREE to download and play!

So, it does not have to be unique, it can be any game as long as people find it interesting to play.

Average earnings for gaming apps can vary but an average of £4,000 per month can be achieved as you have a worldwide audience. It will all depend on how much effort you put into promoting your app.

Good games on the other hand (When the word spreads) can literally earn you a small fortune!

Your income is generated by in app adverts, game purchases or in app purchases!

In other words, every time your game is downloaded, people will see adverts within the game, unless they purchase the game outright. As they play the game they will be offered upgrades to the game play, so as they get more involved in the game they are more likely to want to play more and more and purchase more within the app.

Earnings Continued...

So there are 3 ways to generate income:

1. Adverts are shown within the game. Every-time someone downloads your game, instantly they will see adverts and you start earning. The more they play the game the more adverts they will see and the more you earn.
2. Game purchase so people do not see adverts. Some people will decide they love the game but don't wish to be interrupted by adverts that pop up within it, so they purchase the game outright which then removes adverts
3. Gaming in app purchases to improve game play. As people play the game they get more involved in it. There are purchase options to improve game play, which again, you earn on every-time they buy!
